Money for Two School Districts

Two school districts in Hempstead County received final approval this week for funds amounting to $43,623.00 under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act for 1967-68, Associate Commissioner W. H. Moore, who is in charge of Federal Programs for the State Department of Education, has announced. Projects for other districts in the county have not yet been processed, he said.

The following districts and the amounts which they received are: Spring Hill, $11,151.00; Bleivins, $32,472.00. Moore said that the approved allocations for the districts in Hempstead County was based on the number of economically disadvantaged children in the District. The money is used for remedial, supplementary and personal services as needed by the individual child to help him overcome learning handicaps so that he may achieve at normal level.

Arkansas is receiving $20,201,473 under Title I this year to be distributed among the state's 387 eligible districts. Hempstead County also received $1,434.00 under Title II for library materials, Moore said. The amounts for the separate districts are: Spring Hill, $452.00; Bleivins, $982.00. This money is allocated on a formula based on enumeration, relative need and self-effort and may be spent for books, magazines, film strips, recordings, globes, maps, charts and printed material, he added.

Seminar Held Here on Law Enforcement

Last week, a Law Enforcement Seminar was held in the Hempstead County Courtroom. The Seminar was called to order by W. F. Denman, Jr., Prosecuting Attorney and he introduced Bill Haas and Milburn Gill, Assistants to the Attorney General, and Paul Scott, Special Agent of the F.B.I. Mr. Haas gave a lecture on reasonable ground for arrest and for search and seizure and Mr. Scott showed an interesting instructional film.

Sheriff Jimmie Griffin of Hope provided a fish fry for those attending the Seminar.

After lunch Mr. Denman called the meeting to order and the afternoon session was devoted to a question and answer period. The discussion panel was composed of Judge William H. Arnold III, Mr. Haas, Mr. Gill, Mr. Scott and Mr. Denman. The first 2 hours of this session were spent in discussion of recent developments in the criminal law. The second 2 hours were spent in discussions of problems common to and troublesome to all enforcement agencies involved in an attempt to make law enforcement more effective in view of the present crime explosion and the undermanned staffs of all enforcement agencies, the Prosecutors Offices and the Circuit Court itself.

The Sheriff or their Deputies from Miller, Hempstead and Nevada Counties, and members of the police forces of Hope, Prescott and Arkadelphia, together with all Deputy Prosecuting Attorneys of the Circuit and members of the State Police attended this Seminar.

Ancient Ruins Dedication

CORTEZ, Colo. (AP) — The ruins of an Indian village that thrived nearly 1,000 years ago will be dedicated as a national historic landmark in ceremonies near here Oct. 17, the Bureau of Land Management announced.

Two years of restoration work have gone into preparations for the dedication of Lowry Pueblo ruins.

Lowry Pueblo was built by the Anasazi (old ones), Indians about 1075 AD on the ruins of abandoned pit houses of the 8th century. About 50 to 100 Indians used it for living quarters and religious ceremonies.

There are about 40 ruins in the ruins. It is believed the Pueblo was occupied for about 150 years until a great drought struck the Southwest.

Explosion a Boobytrap

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — State police said Tuesday tests prove that an explosion which injured two boys near a gun club at Bastrop, La., was a boobytrap set to go off when a side door opened.

The youngsters—Homer Bullock, 14, and Glenn Brown, 12—were hurt Sunday when they tried to open a side door at the clubhouse, located in a wooded area.

Benton Police Chief to Be Reinstated

BENTON, Ark. (AP) — The Benton City Council voted Tuesday night to reinstate Police Chief Jim McClintock pending further investigation of "allegations" against him.

The council suspended McClintock Oct. 3 and called for an investigation of the police department. The action followed McClintock's dismissal of Sgt. John Cook Sept. 28.

Cook's dismissal came five days after he and patrolman Al Brumbelow seized a trailer van loaded with $50,000 worth of gambling equipment, including slot machines and dice tables.

Brumbelow later resigned in protest of Cook's dismissal, but both officers were reinstated by the City Council the same night it suspended McClintock.

Mayor Noel Butler Jr., said Tuesday he would again ask the Saline County Grand Jury to investigate alleged wrongdoings in the police department. The jury refused earlier on grounds that there was too little evidence to justify such an inquiry.

Butler said he wanted the jury to investigate the matter, either bringing about punitive action or exonerating McClintock of the charges.

Butler said he had investigated some of the charges, as have some of the city council members. He said they all were finding out that accusations against McClintock were possibly false.

One allegation was that McClintock was involved with Hot Springs gambling interests, Butler said. He said he checked with State Police Director Lynn Davis, who told him there was no truth to the allegation.

New Appeal to Quit Space Competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a new appeal to abandon "competitive space-manship" and join with the United States in a cooperative effort to explore the heavens.

Johnson renewed his offer of collaboration after signing a proclamation declaring formally in effect the international treaty barring nuclear weapons and military bases from outer space.

The President said: "The first decade of the space age has witnessed a kind of contest. We have been engaging in competitive spacemanship. We have accomplished much, but we have also wasted much energy and resources in duplicated or overlapping effort."

"The next decade should increasingly become a partnership—not only between the Soviet Union and America, but among all nations under the sun and stars," he added.

The treaty, now ratified by the United States and 12 other nations, including the Soviet Union and Great Britain, is considered a milestone in efforts to insure the peaceful uses of nuclear power in the world.

It prohibits any nation from claiming sovereignty in space or using celestial bodies such as the moon and planets for military bases. It also calls for the reporting of space exploration and research for the benefit of all mankind.

LBJ Critic Now Praises President

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson, who was highly critical of President Johnson during his unsuccessful campaign as the Democratic gubernatorial nominee last year, had words of praise for the Chief Executive Tuesday.

Johnson congratulated the president in a telegram for "the recent unleashing of a part of our air power and the removal of the restrictions on certain vital targets in North Vietnam."

"If you will just take the wraps off the remaining vital targets, you will earn the gratitude of millions of your fellow Americans who believe as I do," Johnson said.

Johnson also said he approved of the President's "refusal to accept the advice 'of such persons as historian Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and other notorious appeasers.'"

The Visund, a Norwegian ship, steamed toward San Pedro Calif., after picking up John Kirk, Modesto, Calif.; Oscar Wiley, Oakland, Calif.; and Edwin D. Johnson of Marine City, Mich. It also recovered four bodies.

Eight other dead were found by the Russian ship Orekhov, which remained on the scene. With her were the Pan American Steel Seafarer and the Keisho Maru of Japan. The Coast Guard cutters Storrs and Dexter were en route.

Three of the dead were unidentified. The others were listed as Nell J. Leary, San Francisco; Czeslaw Kwiatkowski, Detroit, Mich.; James Bechtold, East Weymouth, Mass.; Antonio Apollito, Huntington Station, N.Y.; Henry Limbrough, Birmingham, Ala.; Lester Corum, Fresno, Calif.; Joseph Blaslo, Pinola, Calif.; Clement Daniels, London, England; and Raymond Eden of Spanish Honduras.

Numerous bodies were reportedly seen floating among the debris by a Navy search plane Tuesday, increasing concern for the fate of the men who were forced to leap from their rapidly running ship.

This Youth Was Honest

LA CANADA, Calif. (AP) — When flames raced up the road threatening the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Korbin, a group of teenagers pitched in and helped move furniture out of the house. Later, Mrs. Korbin reported she couldn't find $100 which had been left in a drawer. She feared it had been stolen.

She found the money Tuesday—neatly rolled up in one of her purses. The teenagers had put it there when the flames threatened Sunday.

Denise refused to confirm or deny that the company had made a new offer.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The blue and pink spotlights converged, a drum rolled. Country singer Eddy Arnold walked on, bowing, smiling—and nervous. "I figured it'd be a sophisticated crowd," he said afterward. "I didn't know how it'd come off."

The "Tennessee Plowboy" needn't have worried. In smart but down-deep-folksy Hollywood the 46-million record seller, long a favorite in the hinterlands, was a smash.

A turnout crowd of nearly 1,000 in the Ambassador Hotel's Coconut Grove gave Arnold two standing, shouting, whistling ovations last week on the opening night of a three-week engagement.

It loved his informality: "I'm sort of a 57-varities singer. I do a bit of everything." "Gosh, I was never even in the lobby of this place before."

And when the pants of his brand-new tux started to slide: "I shoulda worn suspenders."

The voice faintly suggests Bing Crosby; the long-jawed face, with cleft chin, Kirk Douglas. Except for a 17-minute turn with a small group at Las Vegas' Sahara Hotel in 1953, this was Arnold's first major nightclub engagement. For his hour-plus act he had 27 musicians.

The crowd clapped along with hard-riding rafter raisers like "Wreck of the Old 97" and cheered at the first note of ballads like "Turn the World Around" and "Make the World Go Away."

Does hiptown acceptance mean a new trend in popular music?

"Country music probably is enjoying the greatest success it's ever had," Arnold says.

"It's getting more exposure by radio stations all over the country. It's appearing on prime-time television. And I think John Q. Public is just ready for it. It's sort of becoming the in thing to like it. My fan mail comes now from all over—Los Angeles, Chicago, Boston."

Arnold, 49, a Tennessee cotton sharecropper with his two older brothers after their father died, learned his first chords from his mother on a borrowed mail-order guitar. He sings now with symphonies and plans a second Carnegie Hall appearance in New York next spring.

Between engagements he lives on a Nashville cattle farm with Sally, his wife of 25 years. He has interests in real estate, auto sales, music publishing, water utilities and 400 units of apartments.

Supports Bombings in Vietnam

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation and a former advisor to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson, said here Tuesday that he supported the bombing of North Vietnam, but that he didn't think it could lead to a negotiated peace.

Bundy spoke to about 2,000 persons gathered here for dedication of the new $1.1 million Bailey Library, a two-level underground building completed this summer at Hendrix College.

He said the bombing of North Vietnam "has been justified and it has had the proper effect."

He said the United States' stand in Southeast Asia "has changed the political expectations of some of the neighboring countries of South Vietnam."

But, he said, "I don't think Hanoi is going to soften its stand and come to the conference table."

Bundy called President Johnson "one of our greatest practical politicians."

"I am a great admirer of the President, and I support his policies," he said.

He said he had "great admiration" for Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., but noting that Fulbright is one of Johnson's critics on Vietnam policies, he added, "In my view, this isn't his first mistake."

The word gethsemane means "oil press."

A CALL FOR CHRISTMAS CARDS TO VIETNAM

Dear Helen: May I ask your help once again? Your readers have already sent some 50,000 letters to unknown Servicemen in Vietnam, so I am sure they will respond to our Christmas Call.

Vietnam Mail Call has launched the 1967 drive for Christmas cards to be forwarded to U.S. TROOPS. We hope churches, clubs, schools, colleges, organizations will mail us their cards. Please mail them early so that they may all be delivered during the Holidays. They will be held in Vietnam until the proper time.

Those fine young men who will spend Christmas in the sniper-infested swamps of South Vietnam do not set U.S. policy. They get lonely, they sweat, they bleed, and many will die. Seasons greetings from fellow Americans will lighten the burden they bear.

This year we will mail Christmas cards to 27 hospitals, 10 USO's, all major units, ships at sea, and also to individuals.

Each card must be signed and a return address given. Organizations may box up large numbers of cards and send them to us parcel post; but we ask that each writer include five cents per card to help with overseas postage. A personal note enclosed with the card is always appreciated, and is more apt to get a reply.

We're sorry, but we aren't equipped to send gift packages overseas. Send cards and letters, to: VIETNAM MAIL CALL, Box 3104-A, Columbus, Georgia, 31903.

Thank you again, Helen, and sincere thanks to all your readers who have cheered our Servicemen in the past. PAUL STEWART, Coordinator, Vietnam Mail Call.

Sixth Series Game Today in Boston

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Jim Lonborg had to wait until the finish of today's sixth World Series game to find out where he'd be sleeping tonight.

There was nothing uncertain, however, about Gary Waslewski's day-before-the-game plans. Waslewski, a 26-year-old rookie, had a lot to do with Lonborg's sleeping plans as well as being the pitcher who stood between extinction for the Boston Red Sox.

Lonborg, due for the seventh game start against St. Louis, abandons his apartment to sleep in a downtown Boston hotel before an important game.

"I'm pretty sure I'll go back to my hotel. I can't afford not to," Lonborg said when asked about his Wednesday night plans if the Red Sox are able to even the series at three games each.

Lonborg started his pregame hotel visit the night before he pitched Boston's pennant-clinching game against Minnesota. He vacated his apartment for a hotel because he wanted to simulate conditions on the road where he has pitched better this year.

He beat the Twins, then threw a one-hitter against St. Louis after taking the hotel treatment last Wednesday night.

Waslewski, on the other hand, didn't have time for any gimmicks Tuesday. Besides thinking of his assignment against the Cardinals and another rookie hurler, 29-year-old Dick Hughes, the Red Sox right-hander had other chores.

"I have a lot of work to do," Waslewski said as he prepared to run through a light workout Tuesday. "I have to take my wife to the doctor's. She's expecting in three weeks. And we don't have any food in the house."

"We've been away since Thursday. I also have some movies I took of the World Series that I'd like to take in and have processed."

Everyone was processing information about Waslewski after Manager Dick Williams named him as the sixth-game starter.

Waslewski was declared eligible for the series only the day before it began. The Red Sox added him to the roster because Darrell Brandon pulled a muscle, Bill Landis was called by the Army and Sparky Lyle hurt his elbow.

"It's hard to believe," Waslewski said about the turn of events. "I've been in the big leagues only half a season, and here I'm starting a game."

Waslewski already has seen action in the Series. He came on in relief last Saturday and pitched three perfect innings.

Drafted from the Pittsburgh organization in 1965, Waslewski started this season at Toronto of the International League, was called up by the Red Sox June 6, sent back to Toronto Aug. 1 and brought up again Sept. 6.

He posted a 5-6 record in the minors and a 2-2 mark in the majors. He also picked up ten points, a bad back and a sore elbow to go with his heart murmur, a collapsed lung he had in 1964 and rheumatic fever he had as a child.

Dick Hughes, his opponent, has survived nine seasons and 12 teams in the minor leagues to get where he is.

A 16-game winner during the season, the bespectacled Hughes started the second game against Lonborg and didn't pitch too poorly. But there aren't too many pitchers who beat an opponent who throws a one-hitter.

"I didn't have my real good stuff last time," the right-hander said. "But I've had a lot of rest, and I think I have a better idea on the hitters than I did before."

If a seventh game is necessary, Schoendienst plans to send Bob Gibson against Lonborg. Each has won two games, Gibson the first and the fourth and Lonborg the second and fifth. Gibson will have had three days rest, Lonborg two.

"I don't care how much rest I'll have," Lonborg said. "I'll have all winter to rest."

At last he'll be able to do it in his apartment.

Wolverines Perked Up by Ron Johnson

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Michigan band is playing "Hail to the Victors" with something less than conviction these days, but halfback Ron Johnson is single-handedly recalling the bygone days of Wolverine greatness.

Michigan lost to Navy 26-21 Saturday, but Johnson's ground-gaining exploits were such that he was named Associated Press Back of the Week today.

The 6-foot-1, 190-pound junior pilled up a total of 270 yards from scrimmage in 26 carries, including touchdown runs of 62 and 72 yards. Another 37-yard dash set up a third Wolverine score.

He even caught three passes for 19 yards, thus accounting for all but 97 of Michigan's 386-yard total offense.

Johnson's total broke the Michigan single-game record set 24 years ago by Bill Daley and surpassed the best efforts of such greats of yesteryear as Tom Harmon, Willie Heston and present coach Bump Elliott.

"I have never had a back who gained such yardage and ran so well," Elliott said later.

"We've never faced a back like Johnson," added Navy Coach Bill Elias. "And we hope we do not see one like him again for a long, long time. He was simply great."

Johnson, a brother of the St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder Alex Johnson, was understandably pleased with his output but disappointed in the outcome of the game.

Jap Boxing Team Stopping for Tuneup

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—Japan's Olympic boxing team, en route to Mexico City, will stop off here for a tuneup tournament Monday against an assembly of top talent from the United States and Canada.

The 10-man team includes boxers of 156 pounds and less. The card here will include all weights through the heavies, announced the sponsoring Post-Intelligencer, with North Americans competing in the ponderous divisions.

The Japanese will take part in the International Sports Week program at Mexico City.

Southern Cal, Irish Are Picked

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—A poet once described October as the Month of Myths. Some of the college football scores posted last weekend must have been myths.

This week's picks:
Southern California over Notre Dame: This season Southern California is unbeaten and Notre Dame bowed to Purdue. That record doesn't count. What counts is that the Trojans were humiliated by the Irish last year, 51-0 and they want revenge.

Purdue over Ohio State: Because Leroy Keyes of the Bollermakers is probably the best running back in the Big Ten. Georgia over Mississippi: The Bulldogs boast of two of the best tackles in the South in Don Hayes and Edgar Chandler.

UCLA over California: There are other players on UCLA besides Gary Beban but he is the reason the Bruins are winning. Colorado over Missouri: Wilmer Cooks, Colorado's all-conference fullback, carries 215 lethal pounds. Missouri still not strong at center.

Alabama over Vanderbilt: Alabama is known as the Crimson Tide, Vanderbilt as the Commodores—but the former makes the bigger splash. Nebraska over Kansas: Last week the Kansas Jayhawks couldn't handle Ohio University.

North Carolina State over Maryland: The Wolfpack lists the more experienced players, especially on the defensive unit. Tennessee over Georgia Tech: The Volunteers have the chance to get back in the national limelight and quarterback Dewey Warren will show them the way. Tech lacks a running attack to go with its aerial antics.

Indiana over Iowa: For the first time in 57 years, the Hoosiers have a chance to open a season with a fourth straight victory. Louisiana State over Miami: The Bayou Bengals are the surprise team of the South and one big reason (220 pounds of him) is John Garlington, defensive end from Pumpkin Center, La.

Michigan State over Michigan: Neither team as strong as in recent years but this is a family feud and the head-knocking will sound like the Anvil Chorus.

Texas over Oklahoma: Not only does Texas have Super Bill Bradley at quarterback but the Longhorns also can boast of a real honest-to-goodness teenage millionaire in Corby Robertson at defensive end.

Washington over Oregon: Those junior college transfers now at home in the Huskie line-up.

Rick Volk Is NFL Player of the Week

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baltimore's Rick Volk, a newcomer to the National Football League big game hunt, already has one battered Bearskin in his trophy room.

Volk, who intercepted a fourth-quarter pass and raced 94 yards for his first pro touchdown last Sunday as the unbeaten Colts cuffed the Chicago Bears 24-3, was cited today by The Associated Press as the NFL's Defensive Player of the Week.

It was the third interception in four games for Volk, a 22-year-old rookie from the University of Michigan whose poised performance in the Colts' secondary has helped them reel off four victories in four starts.

Trailing 7-3 in a defensive struggle to Chicago, the Bears mounted a 74-yard drive to the Colts' eight early in the last period. Rudy Bukich then lofted a pass toward Brian Piccolo in the corner.

But Volk stole the ball on the six and took off down the sideline, breaking a last-ditch tackle by Bukich on the Bears' 37 and going the rest of the way unhindered.

"That could have been the turning point for us," groaned Papa Bear George Halas. "As it was, it was the turning point for them."

"Piccolo ran a wide pattern but the pass wasn't to good," recalled Volk, who made the game-breaking interception with his family and friends from Wausau, Ohio, watching from the stands. "It was a little behind him and since I was playing him tight, man-to-man, all I had to do was step in and intercept it."

SWC Teams Having Tough Time

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Our beloved Southwest Conference is suffering one of its worst seasons ever in intercollegiate play, but no one can put their finger on the reasons for the sudden loss of supremacy.

The conference seems now to be stumbling back to its feet, after the early head of upsets that had befallen all but one SWC team. The loner of the league, Texas Tech, waited until the upset weeks were over, then the Red Raiders were humiliated by Mississippi State 7-3 last Saturday for their first defeat of the young season.

Arkansas and Texas, the two most outstanding stalwarts over the past decade, scored convincing victories in play last weekend, and the Porkers as well as the Longhorns sport nice 1-2 records for 1967. That takes some of the attraction away from the UA-UT classic two weeks in the future, but the renewal of the best-known series in football remains scheduled for national TV from War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock.

Good old Baylor won their first game, beating non-conference Washington State 13-7 in Waco. This was the fourth win for a SWC team against an intercollegiate rival this year.

Over to baseball, those Boston Red Sox, behind the extraordinary pitching of Jim Lonborg, battled like the Spartans of Greek History in the fifth game of the World Series with the St. Louis Cardinals, and the Sox came out on top 3-1. The two teams travel back to Boston today, and tomorrow to play the sixth game. St. Louis leads the series 3-2; therefore if Boston wins the sixth game, the world champion will be decided on Thursday.

In the meantime, watch for Razorback Coach Frank Broyles to call himself the underdog for the Baylor match on Saturday. Broyles is probably the most pessimistic one person in the South, but he shed those garments when he discusses his new quarterback, John Eichler from Stuttgart, who is a raw sophomore. Still, Eichler's poise and determination provide good leadership for the Hogs' offense when the going gets tough.

Hodges Quits Senators to Join Mets

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP)—Gil Hodges left his job as manager of the Washington Senators today for the same job with the New York Mets. He signed a three-year contract.

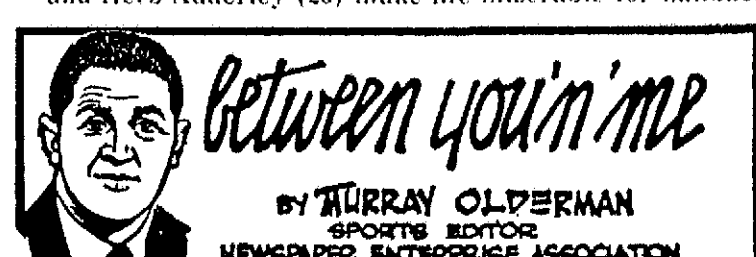

Hodges' decision to switch teams even though he had a year left on his Washington contract was announced at a news conference attended by President Bing Devine of the Mets.

Hodges, manager of the Washington Senators since 1963, reportedly has been offered what Shirley Povich, sports editor of the Washington Post, termed "probably the richest managerial contract in all of baseball history."

New York Manager Wes Westrum resigned the last week of the season and the Mets asked the Senators for permission to talk with the former Dodger

CRUNCHING DEFENSE is the reason why the Green Bay Packers, although unspectacular, went unbeaten the first four weeks of NFL play. Here Dave Robinson (89) and Herb Adderley (26) make life miserable for halfback Tommy Watkins of the Lions.

Yaz Leads by Example

The New York Giants claim that Homer Jones, who holds one decision over Bob Hayes in a track uniform, would beat him wearing football tugs . . . because, for one thing, Homer's better equipped to handle the extra inopist at 220 pounds.

What you can learn hanging around a dressing room: that athletes are no longer allowed to make shaving commercials sans blade in the razor. Because of a bleed, they have to risk cutting their throats for the extra dough.

No batter ever stood more confidently at the plate than Carl Yastrzemski, with bat held high and radiating a pervasive feeling that he can hit every pitch out of the park. The irony of his big triple-crown (well, two-and-a-half crown, to be exact) year is that he blossomed into a bona fide team player when they no longer shouldered him with the responsibility of being Red Sox team captain.

Sandy Koufax, boy announcer, is the picture of relaxation before it's time to get on the air for NBC-TV. It's after the red light goes on that he tightens up.

The autumn days in the career of Willie Mays remind Andy Robustelli of the first time he saw Willie. Mays was a rookie in '51, when the Giants performed the Little Miracle of Coogan's Bluff to win the National League pennant. That same year Robustelli broke into professional football with the Los Angeles Rams en route to an all-pro career.

But in the spring, when Willie reported to the Giants in the old Polo Grounds for his debut, Andy was on the scene—as close as you can get. He caught batting practice that day, and spurned a Class B contract offer by the Giants.

The man the Dallas Cowboys miss most of all is the man in the middle, Dave Manders, who broke his ankle during the training season. Without him snapping the ball and picking up blitzes, Don Meredith is a less-effective quarterback.

Robert Humphrey, vice-president and inveterate Minnesota Twin fan, demonstrated the value of political fence straddling when he told the mayor of Boston, a Red Sox partisan, "When I watch the American League play, I have a national point of view. When I watch the National, I have an American point of view." . . . if you can decipher what that all means.

Pro scouts tab at least five players on the Wyoming football team as good draft prospects. And the best of them all may be an unballooned defensive end named Mike Dirks.

Clark Hinkle, now a television sports director in Steubenville, is in the pro Hall of Fame at Canton and is among the ranking nominees for the college Hall of Fame for his exploits as a Bucknell fullback. The Green Bay great, an Ohio native, explained how he happened to go to Bucknell. "My brother Gordon was coached at Belknap Academy (in Pennsylvania) by Carl Snavely. When Carl became the coach at Bucknell, he came out to our home in Ohio to recruit him. But my brother had already signed a professional baseball contract. So he took me instead."

The quick way to make it as a tight end in football is to belong to the Smith family. In the National League, there are Jerry Smith of Washington, Jackie Smith of St. Louis and Ralph Smith of Cleveland, all playing regularly at that position. . . . In all, there are seven Smiths in the NFL . . . and three in the AFL.

Between you'n' me, the pro football players get the big glamour play now, but they're not in the same bracket with other sports when it comes to making the big dough. John Ularas was tops in the NFL last year at $60,000. Though it hasn't been announced because of legal complications involving his personal finances, he's already reached terms with the Colts on a whopping new deal.

star this week.
Hodges has a year left in his Washington contract. He took over the Senators in May of 1963 and the club finished last that year, ninth in 1964 and eighth in 1965 and 1966. This year, however, the Senators surprised the American League by finishing the season with a winning record of .473 and hit 375 home runs, knocking in more than 100 runs in seven straight seasons.

Hurricanes Kicking Up Their Heels

NEW YORK (AP)—The Tulsa Hurricanes are kicking up a storm of aerials that has enabled them to break one important record and strengthen their passing lead among the nation's major college football teams.

The Hurricanes passed for 698 yards in overwhelming Idaho State 58-0 Saturday night, eclipsing the mark of 634 set by the University of Texas at El Paso against North Texas State in 1965.

Tulsa also tied the record for most touchdown passes with eight previously established by Kentucky in 1950. The Hurricanes rushing-passing yards of 798 was second only to Wyoming's 871 against Colorado State College in 1949.

The Hurricanes' impressive performance lifted their season passage average to 431 yards. New Mexico is a distant second with 283.

Tulsa also is No. 1 in total offense with a 568 yard average, 118 more than runnerup West Texas State.

UCLA paces the nation in rushing with a 297.3 mark while U. Texas at El Paso is the leader in scoring with a 41-point average and Kansas State heads the punting list with a 45.7-yard average.

Syracuse is the leader in two defensive categories. The Orange has yielded only 18.7 yards a game rushing and 129 yards a game over-all.

Records May Fall in Stock Car Racing

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Cale Yarborough's qualifying record of 154.384 miles per hour at Charlotte Motor Speedway was expected to be broken today in trials for Sunday's National 500 stock car race.

Yarborough, who set the record last May, averaged 154.197 mph. In practice Tuesday in a Ford.

The first 10 positions for Sunday's $100,000 NASCAR-sanctioned race were to be determined today.

Richard Petty, the Plymouth driver with 27 victories and more than $125,000 in winnings already this year, was a favorite to take the pole position.

Boozar Still Leading in Pro Scoring
NEW YORK (AP)—Emerson Boozar, who has scored eight touchdowns for the New York Jets, retained the American Football League's scoring leadership this week, according to statistics released by the league today.

Boozar's 48 points gave him a 174-point edge over San Diego place kicker Dick Van Haeghe. Len Dawson of Kansas City leads the league in passing and Oakland's Hewitt Dixon is the leading receiver.

Porkers Have Crip, Peppy Drill

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks turned up their pass defense Tuesday in a 90-minute drill that drew added pep from the crisp, 50-degree temperature.

Head Coach Frank Broyles said his squad's attitude was good, and that the cool weather helped the practice session.

The Razorbacks face the Baylor Bears in Waco Saturday, and Broyles was worried about adjusting his defense to Baylor's pro-type attack.

"Baylor will use the first dropback pass we've seen this year," he said. "It's a learning process for us, and I think we're picking it up pretty good."

Broyles said third-year sophomore John Eichler would be at the helm again this week, and that his other starters probably would be the same ones who thrashed Texas Christian University 26-0 last week in Arkansas' first victory of the season.

The only question marks are at split end and weakside guard. Broyles said 6-foot, 185-pound Max Peacock was trying to wrest the starting position away from split end Dennis Berner, who stands six feet and weighs 187.

He said Jud Irwin also was trying hard to oust Pay Mayas starter at the guard slot.

Jim Barnes, injured against TCU, will start against Baylor, but probably will be spelled regularly by sophomore Jim Mullins. Barnes, who reinjured a hamstring muscle that he pulled during fall practice, missed practice Monday and Tuesday. He was expected to be back in pads today.

Fifth-year senior Donny South, who lost his quarterback job to Eichler, has been working on his field goals and punting.

The Razorbacks will fly to Waco after practice Friday and spend the night in nearby Temple, Tex. They will fly back to Fayetteville Saturday night.

Terry Stone Top Passer in Football

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—More than 18 months ago Terry Stone cleaned out the football locker at Baylor University in Waco, Tex., and came home with a stomach ailment.

A few months later, University of New Mexico Football Coach Bill Weeks was in an office when Stone walked in and asked for the late-quarterbacking job.

And just last spring after his red-shirt season, Stone injured his knee in spring practice and underwent surgery.

Today, the 6-foot-1, 190-pound junior quarterback is atop the nation's passers and first in total offense with the philosophy: "If we throw two times in the next game and win, I'd be happy."

Weeks, Stone and the rest of the Lobos are working on ways to better New Mexico's 1-3 record, in which Stone was named 1967's 157th player, a 4.01 percentage for 1,032 yards and six touchdowns.

"The pressure of being the nation's leading passer hasn't bothered me," he said. "The only thing that bothers me is that we're losing. I'd feel a lot better if we were winning."

"When we put four good quarters together, I feel sorry for the team that we put it together against," he said.

Stone was one of three quarterbacks leading brother to come out of Albuquerque Highland High School. A younger brother, Dean, is a starting candidate at the post for the Miami, Fla., freshman team.

Chamberlain Salary Is $250,000
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Most athletes wouldn't think of allowing a reported $250,000 contract to gather dust on a general manager's desk.

That's a luxury only with Chamberlain can afford.

Once again the Philadelphia 76ers' All-Star center has pulled his presence on his peering act, although he has agreed to sign with the National Basketball Association champions. The reported $250,000 salary to be received by the highest-paid player ever paid an athlete.

"I really don't know if he's coming," said General Manager Jack Ramsey, who earlier said the 7-foot-4 Chamberlain was due Monday. "We are expecting him, he hasn't signed yet."

Hockey Loop Plans Big Expansion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The most ambitious expansion program in sports history gets its first go-round tonight when the National Hockey League opens its 51st season.

Five games are on tap, three of them involving expansion teams which have doubled the NHL's size from six to 12 clubs. It marks the first time any major sport has doubled its size in one year.

Among the new teams, only Los Angeles is idle tonight. Philadelphia plays at California, Minnesota is at St. Louis and Montreal helps Pittsburgh get started. In games matching older teams, New York plays at Chicago and Detroit is at Boston.

Philadelphia opens as co-favorites in the NHL's new division with California.

Quarry Says He'll Win by Knockout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Heavyweight Jerry Quarry predicts his return bout with ex-champion Floyd Patterson will end in a knockout, and his foe is inclined to agree.

Still Patterson doesn't feel the current World Boxing Association tournament winner can feel himself a true champion until he defeats Cassius Clay.

Quarry, from suburban Bellflower, and New Yorker Patterson appeared at a news conference Tuesday before heading back to their training camps in preparation for their Oct. 28 meeting.

This time they fight as part of the WBA tournament after battling to a draw last summer when Patterson was down twice and Quarry once. Each looks to a triumph this time.

Of those still in the WBA tournament, Patterson said, "Any one of the five left will feel the way I feel. Unless he gets a victory over Clay, he won't be the true champion."

Clay was stripped of his title on conviction of draft evasion. He stopped Patterson in 12 rounds at Las Vegas in 1965.

Steadily Increasing Doctors' Fees Will Continue to Go Up

By JACK MILLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors' fees, which have increased spectacularly in the last year, are likely to continue rising sharply, government officials say.

And doctors' incomes—top among professions—are increasing even faster than their fees.

Federal officials express concern about doctor fees and other medical costs. They are encouraging such changes as more group practice by doctors and use of more physician assistants. But they say it will be years before such changes could have a major impact on fees.

The Medicare-cost outlook for the American public appears grim.

Demand for doctors' services is expected to increase by one-third between 1965 and 1975, according to the so-called Gormham Report on medical costs, submitted to President Johnson earlier this year.

The supply of doctors for the period is expected to increase by only 17 per cent—and not even that much for family doctors.

As the demand for doctors' services runs ahead of the supply of doctors, the report says.

Proposed West Turnpike Report Soon

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — E. M. Jones, of Texarkana, Ark., a member of the Arkansas Turnpike Authority, said Tuesday that a verbal report is expected in the next eight weeks on a feasibility study of the proposed western Arkansas turnpike.

Jones, addressing some 200 representatives from Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana attending a meeting here to give reports on turnpike progress from their states, and it was possible that the sale of bonds for the turnpike could be held as early as February 1968.

Representatives from the three states said turnpike efforts were being considered in different parts of their respective states, but that a western toll road connecting Kansas City and New Orleans was a good possibility.

The meeting was sponsored by the Missouri Highway 71 Association and the Western Arkansas Development Association. Jones said the tight money market might make it impossible to build the entire road at one time. He said it may be necessary to construct a portion of the road from Fort Smith, Ark., to the Missouri line first.

Another segment from Texarkana, Ark., to the Louisiana line would be the next section, he said, and the connection between the two toll roads would

"this exerts pressure" which leads them to raise fees.

Doctors' fees increased for years at about the same pace as wages. But in 1966, they jumped 7.8 per cent. And the latest Bureau of Labor Statistics figures show an increase of 8.9 per cent from August 1966 to August this year.

Doctors' income apparently has been rising much faster because they work more and because of Medicare. Under Medicare, doctors can charge full fees to elderly patients many traditionally had undercharged. The same is true for low-income patients qualifying for the new Medicaid program.

Reliable figures on doctors' salaries are scarce. The Bureau of Labor Statistics, admitting its information is sketchy, says the annual income of doctors in private practice in 1966 appeared to be between $20,000 and $27,000 generally.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, charging last week "there is no excuse whatsoever for this relentless escalation in physicians' fees," said doctors make $35,000 to $40,000 a year.

Meany said in a letter to Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that Medicare is in part responsible for the increases.

Sect Worshipers Going to Japan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The boys and girls of the Nichiren Shoshu sect of Buddhism flew off Tuesday to Japan to worship at the head temple and take part in a festival.

A chartered airliner took 147 members from California, the majority of them women of Japanese descent.

A spokesman, Masayasu Sadanaga, said the membership took in 35,000 households throughout the United States.

Be the last step. Jones said the Arkansas Turnpike Authority desired to build the entire road at the same time, but that if bonds were not feasible for construction of the entire toll road system, it would be done in parts.

State Rep. J. Russell Johnston of Shreveport, La., chairman of the North-South Coordinating Committee, said all routes were being considered in his state.

But Johnston said that as far as he could determine, the route from Shreveport to Krotz Springs, near Baton Rouge, was the most feasible.

Roy Mayes of Carthage, Mo., a member of the Missouri Highway Commission and a member of the Missouri Turnpike Authority when the turnpike law becomes effective Friday, said his state was going to look at all possible toll roads, but that what Arkansas and Louisiana do will have an effect on Missouri's decisions.

Who Tipped FBI Remains a Mystery

By JAMES BONNEY
Associated Press Writer
MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Defense lawyers remained thwarted today in an attempt to learn who tipped FBI agents to the location of the bodies of three civil rights workers slain in Neshoba County in 1964.

The dozen lawyers representing 18 white men on trial in U.S. District Court for conspiracy to violate the civil rights of the slain trio failed Tuesday to uncover the name of the informants during incessant cross-examination of FBI agents.

The Justice Department, which has promised to produce as witnesses informants paid by the FBI, continued to present its case. The trial began Monday.

Among the 18 on trial were a Ku Klux Klan chieftain and three Neshoba County law enforcement officials.

No state charges were ever filed in the case.

Michael Schwerner, 24, Andrew Goodman, 20, both white and from New York City, and James Chaney, 22, Meridian Negro, were found buried 15 feet inside a farm pond dam on the property of Olen Burrage, a defendant, eight miles southwest of Philadelphia.

The FBI, aided by state officers and 400 sailors acting under orders from President Johnson, had scoured 10 East Mississippi counties for 44 days before appearing at the Burrage farm Aug. 4, armed with a search warrant and earth moving equipment.

FBI Agent Jay Cochran Jr. testified he received information from a superior Aug. 1 that the bodies might be found inside the dam.

Cochran directed the exhumation of the bodies but said he did not know where the FBI got the tip.

"Was the information secured after payment of money?" a defense lawyer asked.

"I don't know, sir," Cochran replied.

Cochran testified he first visited the Burrage farm Aug. 1 but did not dig into the raw red clay of the new dam.

The defense contended that the first visit was without a search warrant and the second trip was made with an illegal warrant. U.S. Dist. Judge Harold Cox disagreed.

Seven photographs of the exhumed bodies were placed into evidence over continuous defense objections that they were "gruesome and prejudicial."

The enlargements showed the decaying and clay-covered bodies in the positions in which they were uncovered.

"The photographs contain some gruesome reproductions of some allegedly dead bodies," defense counsel Mike Watkins argued. "Such gruesome pictures would be highly prejudicial."

Subversive Control Group Facing Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Subversive Activities Control Board, praised as a necessary weapon against communism and condemned as "a pork barrel board for political appointees," faces a key test in the Senate.

The panel was thrust into prominence last July when President Johnson named Simon F. McHugh, a 29-year-old accountant who had married a presidential secretary, as a member at $26,000 a year.

It was set up 17 years ago to determine whether organizations reported to it by the Justice Department should be required to register as subversive. Court decisions abolished the registration procedure.

Some members of Congress called for abolition of the board when its current stage of inactivity was spotlighted by McHugh's appointment.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen proposed the board be empowered to identify Communist organizations without any registration requirement.

Dirksen moved in the Senate Tuesday to attach his plan to a pending $2.18 billion appropriation bill for the justice department and other federal units. The bill includes a $295,000 appropriation for the five-member subversive control board and its staff.

Sen. William Proxmire D-Wis., and Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., led opposition to the Dirksen plan.

He Chains the Courthouse Door

CARROLLTON, Ill. (AP) — Green County Sheriff Donald Vinyard has taken to chaining the courthouse doors at night after finding the building "wide open" several mornings.

But other county officials don't like being locked out. So they got the Green County Board of Supervisors to get the states' attorney to get the sheriffs to remove the chains.

But Vinyard said no—he is responsible for the property at the courthouse and the chains stay on until he is proven legally wrong.

Vinyard added this: "If it's too much trouble for anyone to get the key at the jail, then he doesn't have any business at the courthouse."

Children New

About Alice

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — A group of children, some crying, stood with their parents outside the elephant house Tuesday at Rogers Williams Park and heard the sound of four rifle shots.

"Alice is dead, Alice is dead," cried one little boy as he hid his face in his mother's skirt.

Alice, the park's 33-year-old elephant was put to a mercy death by bullets from a police rifle. She had been suffering from incurably abscessed teeth and possible cancer.

New Jerusalem

Physically, Jerusalem is beginning to look like one city. But there's more to unification than tearing down the Mandelbaum Gate, the symbol of division between Arabs and Jews, which Israel razed after their June victory. Yet, despite barriers of language and traditional enmity, life appears to be returning to normal in the "City of Peace," as Arabs and Jews mingle and even do business together.

A SCHOOL PROBLEM arising from the Mideast war was the supplying of school books for institutions in former Arab territories. Approximately 600,000 books are being printed in Arabic and Hebrew by Israel, which now administers to Arab school children whose former textbooks often made hate-filled references to the Israelis.

STACKS OF WATERMELONS crowd a stairway in Jerusalem as Arab vendors await a customer, whether it be Jew or Arab. Economic necessity has forced at least a business relationship between the long time enemies. At right, an Arab and a group of armed Israeli soldiers ignore each other in the vicinity of the Damascus gate, one of the entrances to the former Jordanian sector of the city.

of the United Fund campaign, Art Storch spoke briefly on the forthcoming Kiwanis club Pancake supper which will be held at the high school cafeteria the night of November 3, date of the Hope - Warren football game.

The club then voted on new officers for 1968, and the following were elected: Melvin Thrash, president; Bob Moers, first vice-president; Bob Peters, second vice-president; K. G. Hamilton, treasurer; and Teddy Jones, secretary. Three new board members will be selected next week.

Recording Space Narratives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Smithsonian Institution is recording narratives by American pioneers in aviation and space.

Assistant Director Ernest Robischon of its air and space museums said Tuesday more than 100 tape recordings are ready to be completed. Aviation pioneers Grover Loening, Igor Sikorsky and Jimmy Doolittle are among the narrators.

Robischon said the recordings eventually will be stored in a master tape bank, with copies available for borrowing.

Senate Critics Cry in Spite of LBJ Pledge

By JACK BELL

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate critics are skirmishing anew despite President Johnson's blunt notice he is not going to change his Vietnam war policies.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., called the Senate Foreign Relations Committee together today to act on another invitation to Secretary of State Dean Rusk to testify publicly in defense of Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Fulbright told Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., another vigorous critic of Johnson's course, in Senate action Tuesday that Rusk had refused to answer policy questions in open sessions of the committee since February 1966.

The principal reason administration officials declined to appear, Fulbright said, is "because it would be very embarrassing to them." But the senator said he knew of no way to force Rusk to testify.

Fulbright said he wrote Rusk for an accounting of troop commitments pledged by South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines to aid South Vietnam. He also asked how much countries aligned with assistanceto South Vietnam were trading with North Vietnam.

This fresh assault on the administration's claim that 31 nations are providing assistance in one form or another to Saigon came after the Senate had voted to ask Johnson to seek United Nations economic sanctions against Hanoi.

By a 74-15 vote the Senate wrote into a pending appropriation bill an amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., expressing the "sense of Congress" that the President act to get the United Nations to clamp economic sanctions on Hanoi.

Byrd laced into the amendment the proposition that since the United States supported economic bans on the all-white Rhodesian government, it could do no less against a nation which had caused "55,688 American casualties in the first nine months of 1967."

Senators who support the administration's efforts to bring down the Rhodesian government found it difficult to vote against North Vietnam sanctions.

Board six of the world match gave Italy a two International Match Point profit when both sides played one no-trump contract. The Italian declarer made two overtricks; the American barely made his contract. Board seven gave Italy two more IMPs but you be the judge whether they deserved them.

Kehela and Murray bid the fine six diamond contract which was a laydown. Sammy won the heart lead and went after trumps. Once he had pulled trumps he was able to discard three of his spades on dummy's ace-king-queen of clubs.

The bidding in the box shows how Italy reached the very inferior contract of six spades.

Norman Kay could have beaten this slam had he opened his singleton diamond but, year in and year out, this type of play leads to the poor-house and not to success. He opened his king of hearts.

D'Alelio still needed a spade break and a successful guess as to the location of the queen but he was equal to the occasion, as he was throughout the whole match. He led a low spade and finessed dummy's ten. Then he cashed dummy's ace, discarded his small heart on the ace of clubs, drew the last trump and conceded a trick to the ace of diamonds.

Probably his decision to play Kay for the queen of spades was based on the fact that Norman had overcalled or maybe d'Alelio was just using a crystal ball. But we feel that if Norman had not stuck in his overcall, Italy would have reached the correct six diamond contract.

Double Mark Statistically for Nation

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation will reach a double statistical landmark next month—a 200 million population and its longest economic expansion in history.

The Census Bureau said the exact date is still uncertain but the number of Americans, including servicemen overseas, should hit 200 million around mid-November. It took the nation until 1915 to reach its first 100 million persons and until 1950 to pass 150 million. But since then, it has added the equivalent of a New York, a California, a Pennsylvania and then some.

If the economic boom continues through next month—and economists now see it extending well into 1968—it will mark 81 months of expansion, the longest ever.

The present record is 80 months extending through World War II.

The current expansion began in February of 1961 but the boom hasn't been without its troubles. It took two tax cuts in the early 1960s to keep it going and a tax increase last year—suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit—to prevent it from going too fast.

The boom took a breather during the first half of this year but economists count it as part of the expansion.

Now the Johnson Administration wants Congress to approve a 10 per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes to slow down what it believes will be excessive growth resulting in inflation.

The boom is partly the product of the so-called new economics—the philosophy that the economy can be regulated by raising or lowering taxes and federal spending.

Some government economists now contend the very existence of the new economics is at stake in the fight over the surcharge, now bogged deeply in congressional demands for spending cuts of $5 billion.

James S. Duesenberry, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the expansion has not only been long but also rapid. Since early 1961, he said, the nation's output of goods and services—gross national product—has grown by $182 billion when adjusted for price increases, a rise of nearly 38 per cent or more than 5 per cent yearly.

The Commerce Department is expected to report within the next several days a further increase during the year's third quarter approaching an annual rate of $790 billion.

Government figures also show that Americans as individuals have more money now than they did in 1961 and can fill a larger market basket with it despite inflation.

Income after taxes totaled $1,983 for every man, woman and child in the nation in 1961 and reached $2,716 for each of the nearly 200 million Americans between April and June of this year. Even figuring in inflation, there was still a $481 advance.

Discovered Congo
Sen. Henry Morton Stanley, commissioned by a New York newspaper to "find Livingstone," actually discovered the Congo and much of the central region of Africa in doing so, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

McNamara replied he knew of no evidence to support such a conclusion and "I, myself, strongly object to such a conclusion."

McNamara said he did not believe there was a wide gulf between civilian and military leaders in Washington on the question of how much bombing of the North should be carried out.

He said much of the difference involves about five per cent of targets not authorized.

The secretary said rejection by civilian leaders of target lists proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff did not show a lack of confidence in the military leaders.

The defense secretary said North Vietnam would have to quit the war if supplies from the Soviet Union and Red China stopped but added he knew of no way militarily or politically that this could be done.

He estimated the Soviet Union supplied Hanoi with about $670 million in aid last year, while the Communist Chinese contribution was about $150 million.

He said the enemy is also getting explosives from South Vietnam, where "the duds alone from our air and ground ordnance supply them with a tremendous stock of ammunition."

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, recalled previous testimony by military leaders who agreed that if bombing restrictions had not been in force for two years the air war would have been more effective and probably would have cut allied casualties in the South.

Mrs. Smith asked: "Would we in all probability have experienced fewer casualties in the South had those restrictions and prohibitions not been imposed against the bombing of the North?"

McNamara: "It is my very firm opinion that regardless of what other merit there might have been in following a different practice of air activity against the North in the past, it would not have reduced our casualties in the South."

Auto Junks Really Sends the Russians

NEW YORK (AP) — The Russians nearly tipped the ship because of the Harlem River automobile junkyard Tuesday.

Wearing Japanese cameras around their necks and pointed German shoes, 37 members of the Moscow Circus left their spangled lights and baggy pants behind and circled Manhattan by boat—just as millions of other tourists had done before them.

Campus Wardrobe Is Cut Off

CLEMSON, S.C. (AP) — Mrs. Cathy McNeight's Clemson University campus wardrobe of slacks and miniskirts has been cut in half.

The slacks at least must go. The Clemson student court has ruled that the slacks are improper for class dress but disagreed with Dean of Women Susan Deloney's contention that Mrs. McNeight's miniskirts also must be banned.

Mrs. McNeight, 20, an architecture student, is a pretty, 5-foot-7 brunette. Her miniskirts leave about 7½ inches of leg showing above the top of the kneecap.

Driftwood Deaths Not Twin Suicide

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH

Associated Press Writer

TIMBO, Ark. (AP) — Folk-singer Jimmy Driftwood, who was in Europe when he learned that his two sons had been shot to death at their home here Monday, returned to Arkansas this morning on one of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's private planes.

Awaiting him was word that preliminary findings in an autopsy indicated the deaths couldn't have resulted from a double suicide.

He joined his wife at Marshall (Searcy County), where she had been staying with his sister, Mrs. Buck Mays. They were to attend funeral services at the high school here at 2 p.m. today.

The sons, James Risner Morris, 27, and Bing Lee Morris, 24, were the only children of Driftwood, whose real name is James Corbett Morris. They were found lying face down on the floor of the kitchen-den of their home.

Stone County Sheriff Charles Rosa said a rifle and shotgun were found in the room, and that both had been fired, the shotgun once and the rifle four times.

Driftwood joined his wife at Marshall in Searcy County, where she had been staying with his sister, Mrs. Buck Mays. They were to attend funeral services at the high school here at 2 p.m. today.

An autopsy was held Tuesday at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in Little Rock.

Stone County Coroner Cecil Melton said it probably would be about 10 days before he received a final report on the post-mortem, but that preliminary findings showed that the younger son had been shot three times in the back and head. He said the older son had been shot once in the chest. All the wounds came from a rifle, he said.

Driftwood, who prefers the use of his professional name, wrote the hit song "The Battle of New Orleans." He also makes frequent appearances on the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tenn. He has been on a three-week tour of Europe to promote travel in the South.

He learned of the deaths while in Brussels, Belgium Monday night, and left immediately to return to Arkansas.

Rockefeller's plane met him in St. Louis. The governor is a personal friend of Driftwood, who campaigned for him in 1964 and again in 1966.

James, a graduate of State College of Arkansas in Conway, taught school last year at St. Joe in Searcy County. He sang occasionally with his father and appeared in a concert several years ago in Carnegie Hall. Bing worked on the Driftwood Farm and helped with Driftwood's recordings.

McNamara: "It is my very firm opinion that regardless of what other merit there might have been in following a different practice of air activity against the North in the past, it would not have reduced our casualties in the South."

The Russians leaned on the rail to gaze through fog and rain at Hoboken, N.J., and peered at the big ship piers along the Hudson River.

When the Statue of Liberty loomed on the right, they rushed to starboard and jockeyed for pictures of each other with the bronze lady in the background.

But when the loudspeaker of the tourist vessel announced Wall Street was in sight, they shrugged and turned their backs.

They were more excited about the Brooklyn Bridge and the East River.

The drizzle turned to rain, and there was another rush to starboard in the Harlem River. Through the pointing arms were wrecked automobiles, blue, white, black, gray, stacked neatly in piles. A bicycle wheel thrust its spokes through a dark heap.

"The director didn't come today," an interpreter said. "He said he already had seen the automobile junkyards."

A Series of Meetings Planned Here

DR. F. W. MATTOX

A series of gospel meetings at the Walnut St. Church of Christ has been announced by Mr. Milton H. Peebles, Minister. The series will be conducted by Dr. F. W. Mattox, President of Lubbock Christian College of Lubbock, Texas, from October 15 through October 22. Services each evening will be at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Mattox is a native of Texas. He was born in Grand Falls, Texas, in 1909.

He received his B.A. degree in 1934 from Central State Teacher's College in Oklahoma and his M.A. degree from Oklahoma University in 1940. George Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee, conferred the Ph. D. degree upon him in 1947. The title of his dissertation was "The Teaching of Religion in The Public Schools."

He served as minister for congregations of the church of Christ in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and Los Angeles, California, from 1932 to 1942. He is the author of a book entitled The Eternal Kingdom, a history of the church of Christ.

In 1942 he was appointed to the faculty of Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas. Dr. Mattox worked with Harding College for 14 years where he served in many capacities. In 1967, Harding College honored him as its distinguished Alumnus of the year.

In 1956, he became the first president of Lubbock Christian College and holds this position at the present time. During this period, the college has grown from a "dream" to its present state with a gross asset of over $2 million dollars.

Dr. Mattox is Director of the Lubbock Christian College American Heritage Program, which has received the George Washington Medal of Honor Award from the Freedom Foundation each year since 1960, and he speaks frequently on current issues.

He made a trip around the world in November of 1960, lecturing to missionaries and various educational groups. He was the featured speaker at the Far East Fellowship in Tokyo, Japan on this trip.

Dr. Mattox is married to the former Mildred Foutby of Waldo, Arkansas; and they have one son, Joe, who is a medical doctor in Searcy, Arkansas, and a daughter, Mrs. Does Bryant, of Lubbock, whose husband teaches in the Bible department at Lubbock Christian College.

The public is invited to hear this man at the Walnut St. Church of Christ here in Hope, October 15 through October 22.

Trusted Man in Uniform, She's Broke

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — The

20-year-old widow of a Vietnam war casualty is broke because she trusted a man in uniform.

Mrs. Lucy McKelvie had been receiving monthly checks from the Army since her husband was killed. She saved $1,579.

She said a man dressed in a soldier's uniform came to see her last Saturday. He told her that she had been receiving the checks by mistake—that they should have gone to another Mrs. McKelvie in Greensboro whose husband had been killed a month earlier.

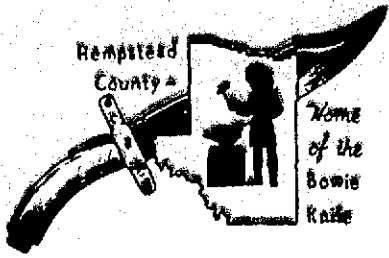

Mrs. McKelvie went to the bank, withdrew the $1,579 and gave it to the man. She quoted him as saying he would be back with her money once he straightened things out at the Pentagon.

He didn't return. Army officials, contacted by the Gaston County police, said they don't know who the man was and that there is not a widowed Mrs. McKelvie in Greensboro.

Break in Ford Strike Seems Near

By KIT KINCADE

DETROIT (AP) — A news blackout cloaked auto labor negotiations today, indicating a break could be near in the 35-day strike against Ford Motor Co.

The 24-hour blackout, announced in a joint statement by Ford and the striking United Auto Workers union, ends at 9 p.m. EDT. It was likely any joint talks before then would be held in total secrecy with no announcement.

Traditionally such a blackout has meant that one side—or both—has made a move in deadlocked talks, although immediate settlement has not always resulted.

The strike has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, cut off the company's production at the critical period of model introduction and caused layoffs in some supplier industries.

The blackout was announced as both sides huddled separately Tuesday night in the vast Ford headquarters known as the See BREAK IN On Page 2

Life Itself Is Grand Programmer for the Wonderful Human

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is no computer like the human memory.

The new electronic miracle machines can perform pushbutton wonders in the storing and sorting of data after they have been properly programmed.

But life itself is the grand programmer for the human mind. The memories it stores are not dead impersonal facts but living truths that warm and cheer the heart on some of its bad days.

Your own flesh-and-blood computer is working pretty well if you can sift through your memories and recall when—

Outside entertainment was so rare in small towns that after a carnival came through people talked about it for a full year. Silkworms worked overtime creating stocking material for ladies because nylon hadn't been invented.

Children who yelped for things the family couldn't afford were sternly told by Papa, "It ain't what you want that makes you fat—it's what you get."

It was no disgrace for a boy to be seen wearing trousers patched in the seat, only when he went to church on Sunday did he usually wear patch-free clothing.

More people took epsom salts than took LSD pills or tranquilizing tablets—and got better results.

Phrenology was the rage, and many a quack got rich telling your character by feeling the bumps and bulges on your head.

The purchase of a new-fangled automobile created a moral dilemma in many a home—what to do with the outdated old family horse. Should he be sold or put out to pasture? A glamorous Hollywood star would rather be found dead than have her picture snapped in slacks.

People didn't feel quite so sorry for Charlie Chaplin, the little tramp in the silent movies, after they learned he was being paid $10,000 a week to look forlorn.

America didn't seem to have half as many blondes as it does now—but most of those who were actually were.

A schoolmarm who married had to keep the wedding secret if she wanted to hold on to her job.

A kid with any real gumption didn't have to ask his father to buy him a bike. He could earn the money for it himself by collecting old rags, bottles and scraps of iron and selling them to the local junkyard.

Families were so large that about the only time a growing boy got much individual attention from his parents was when he fell sick or came home from school with a bad report card.

Grandmas looked like grandmas and grandpas looked like grandpas—and they acted like grandmas and grandpas were supposed to act.

A young lady of propriety would threaten to break off her engagement to her beau if word got around that he had been seen coming out of a burlesque show.

There was such a long interval between U.S. wars that, if a fellow was too young to fight in one, he could reasonably expect to be too old to fight in the next.

Those were the days! Remember?

McNamara Again Says Bombing of Haiphong Won't Shorten War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara again says the war in Vietnam would not be shortened by U.S. bombing or mining of the enemy's port of Haiphong.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff and several Senate hawks have urged military action to knock out the North Vietnamese port, a key center for movement of supplies. McNamara has consistently opposed this.

McNamara, in Senate testimony Aug. 25, released Tuesday, said Hanoi would move its supplies over other routes to its forces and the Viet Cong in South Vietnam if Haiphong harbor were destroyed.

He declared the civilian heads of the American government would continue to base bombing decisions on the basis of value of targets, risk to American pilots and avoidance of direct confrontation with Red China and the Soviet Union.

And in a heated exchange with Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., he denied President Johnson's war policy is a no-win policy.

Thurmond maintained "we seem to be more concerned over the civilian casualties in the North than we are over our own casualties in the South."

24 Aboard Sunken Ship Still Missing

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — With at least 17 crewmen of the sunken Panoscanic Faith accounted for, searchers scanned the North Pacific seas today for two life rafts that might hold more survivors.

Five men are known to have lived through the sudden sinking of the Panoscanic Faith in a storm 870 miles southwest of Kodiak Monday. At least 12 bodies have been recovered.

About two dozen men are missing. "If the men made it to the rafts, their chances are excellent. If they didn't, they're pretty slim," a Coast Guard spokesman said Tuesday night after three more survivors were rescued.

The 459-foot merchant ship, en route from San Francisco to India with a load of fertilizer, sank so rapidly she was able to launch only one life raft. It was recovered Tuesday along with three of the five others dropped by planes answering the vessel's distress call.

While ships and planes continued their search, two vessels sped toward port with the survivors and some of the dead.

The Japanese freighter, Igaru Maru, headed toward Yokohama, Japan, after rescuing Gordon L. Campbell, Oakland, Calif., and Lewis E. Gray Jr., Houston, Tex. The Maru also reported she had picked up "some

Rainmaking Successful

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rainmaking went so well in the Los Angeles basin this year that it's going to be tried again.

After paying a Santa Barbara firm $35,890 last year for cloudseeding, the board of supervisors approved Tuesday a one-year extension of the program costing $23,375.

County officials said rainfall in target areas increased by 20 per cent because of cloud seeding the past 12 months.

Truckers May Accept 5-Pt. Plan

By JOE KROVITSKY

Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Principals in the steel haulers' walk-out begin acting today on a strike-ending proposal fashioned by a mediation panel with trucking companies apparently holding the key in ending the violent, eight-week walkout.

Strike leaders say they're delighted with the panel's five-point program and the Teamsters Union reportedly has no objections.

The third party in the talks—trucking companies represented by the National Steel Carriers Association and a breakaway group headed by Pittsburgh trucking executive Robert Eazor—declined to comment.

"We're meeting, and we feel that we can resolve this thing and give them our answer quickly," said a spokesman for Eazor's group.

William J. Hart, secretary of labor for Pennsylvania, said the national steel carriers will make known its decision by Saturday. Hart announced terms of the proposal Tuesday.

The proposal would give truckers a 5 per cent increase in hauling fees and $10 per hour penalty payment beyond the first two hours for waiting for trucks to be loaded or unloaded.

The truckers, who own their own trucks and contract independently with the trucking companies, had asked for a 6 per cent increase over the 73 per cent they got now of the hauling fees paid to the companies, and they had asked for $15 an hour for waiting time beyond the first two hours.

Although the recommendation falls short of including a third top demand—a new contract with the Teamsters—it includes grievance procedures and joint Teamster-trucker talks on mutual problems, which a spokesman for the truckers called a "very important consideration."

"We're very satisfied with this agreement," said William Kusley, a Gary, Ind., trucker who organized the wildcat walk-out. "We got almost everything we wanted."

Kusley said he would recommend that striking owner-operators ratify the proposal and added: "We can have the trucks rolling in a few days."

He said the strikers would start meeting immediately, but gave no idea when the final vote would be in.

The strike by 10,000 to 20,000 truckers virtually stopped high-way shipment of steel and disrupted the shipment of goods ranging from bread to bricks. Drivers were beaten, their rigs shot at, stoned and the tires slashed. One trucker was killed when a rock crashed through his windshield near Flint, Mich.

Meter Reader Fined in Liquor Case

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — A former meter reader for Arkansas Power & Light Co. and a former warden at Tucker Prison Farm were fined $100 each Tuesday in Circuit Court here for giving liquor to inmates at Tucker.

H. P. Henderson, the former AP&L employee, and Jess Wilson, the former warden, originally had been charged with transportation of intoxicating liquor into a state penitentiary, which is a felony.

The charge was reduced after R. A. Elbott Jr., of Pine Bluff, the pair's attorney, asked the judge to accept a guilty plea on a lesser charge.

Mrs. Brakebill Still Critical

Investigating officers said the accident involved cars driven by Mr. Brakebill and Thomas Pate. Fred Sutton was a passenger in the Pate vehicle. Officers said the investigation continues.

Vietnam President Would Welcome Any Peace Negotiations

By BARRY KRAMER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's new government will seek peace negotiations and will welcome peace initiatives from any nation including Communist states, President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu said in a major address today.

"Until this day, it is not so much that we have not expressed our desire for peace but we have many times been disappointed by the ever obstinate attitude of North Vietnam," Thieu told the opening session of the new 60-member Senate.

"Even today we still sincerely wish that the government of the North Vietnam would sit down with us to discuss the logical and concrete steps toward an effective negotiation."

Thieu said his government would accept peace moves from Western, neutralist or Communist countries "provided those initiatives contribute to bring a just and lasting peace."

He did not mention his campaign promise to offer North Vietnam a bombing pause in an effort to get peace talks started. He had said the offer depended on some sign from the North Vietnamese that they would respond to it.

In another political development, a moderate sect recognized by the government as the mother church of South Vietnam's Buddhists was reported to have agreed to suspension of this recognition in the interest of Buddhist unity.

The government charter granted the moderates was intended to shut out the politically militant faction led by Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang, which has repeatedly opposed the military government to advance its political position. After Tri Quang and three other monks kept a protest vigil for 13 days in front of the government palace and monks and nuns made several marches on the palace, Thieu promised to resolve the dispute.

Vietnam Pres., the government news agency, said the charter granted the moderates would be suspended to create "a favorable atmosphere for reconciliation among the Buddhist ranks."

Boston Uses Homers to Even Series

Apparently the Boston Red Sox sent the World Series into its seventh game tomorrow with a victory over the Cardinals. The Sox were leading 8 to 4 at the end of seven innings.

Jim Lonborg and Bob Gibson will be the starring hurlers in tomorrow's game unless the Cards rally in the final two innings.

Voice Replaces the Paperwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fighting forces in Vietnam are replacing paperwork with the human voice—thanks to greatly improved radio equipment.

Maj. Gen. Walter E. Lotz, Jr., the Army's chief of communications-electronics, told the Association of the United States Army today: "Because commanders have effective and reliable voice radio, they do not normally resort to written orders as in previous combat experiences."

Lotz said voice radio is becoming "the primary means of command and control within the division."

Marine Post Again Target of Shelling

By GEORGE McARTHUR

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Long-range Communist artillery and Red mortars opened up again Tuesday and today on U.S. Marine positions south of the demilitarized zone as sharp fighting was reported up and down South Vietnam.

Seven Marines were killed and 16 wounded in a Communist mortar attack today on a Marine bivouac near Quang Tri City, about 18 miles below the DMZ.

U.S. headquarters said the Marine outpost at Con Thien and other bases just below the border zone were hit Tuesday by 74 artillery and mortar shells, and 26 Marines were wounded, most of them slightly.

Some of the shells were 100-pound projectiles from big Russian-built 152mm cannon dug in across the DMZ in North Vietnam.

The barrages were a far cry from the 1,000 shells a day hurled at the Marine bases last month. But they indicated that despite tremendous American air and artillery bombardment of the Red positions in and above the DMZ, the North Vietnamese intend to maintain pressure on South Vietnam's shaky five northernmost provinces.

The day's battle reports listed widely scattered fighting, including a suicide squad dash to a camp that killed seven Americans, and a Communist mortar attack in the Mekong Delta which killed four Vietnamese civilians and wounded 53.

Just 30 miles east of Saigon troops of the U.S. 9th Division continued to bring up mounds of weapons from a five-level guerrilla tunnel complex beneath the jungle in Phuoc Tuy Province. Officers said 675 weapons, 20,000 rounds of ammunition and stacks of medical and other supplies have been found.

Only in the skies of North Vietnam did the war flag. Heavy clouds and rains kept American planes completely out of the Hanoi-Haiphong area and limited strikes elsewhere to the lowest number in a month.

Hospital Is Real Answer

SIKESTON, Mo. (AP) — What do you do with a skunk that just barges into your house and takes up lodging? Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lacy of Sikeston found that everything comes up roses by being hospitable, understanding and patient—even if it does take five days.

A policeman and Humane Society officer recommended an open-door policy.

The Lacy's got attached to the skunk, named him Oliver, and fed him milk and leftovers.

After five days of going in and out the open basement door, Oliver disappeared.

The War Eagle Fair this year will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Oct. 20-21-22, according to an announcement reaching me from Mrs. Blanche H. Elliott, executive director of the operating organization, Ozarks Arts & Crafts Fair Association, Inc. Although War Eagle is just east of Rogers, off State Highway 12, the fair headquarters address is: War Eagle Mills Farm, Hindsville, Ark., Route One 72738.

This is Autumn's most important event for the Arkansas Ozarks region, being held on the same week-end as the Ozark Folk Festival in Eureka Springs, the nights of Oct. 19-21—so you can attend both celebrations with one trip.

I visited last year's War Eagle Fair and published a black-and-white picture report in The Star. But the color photographs weren't so good, so I expect to return this month for another try.

This year's show already has registered a record-shattering total of 215 hill-country artists and craftsmen as exhibitors. Mrs. Elliott says, and attendance from all over the nation should exceed 75,000.

Exhibits will remain open from 8 to 5 each of the three fair days, with luncheon available on the grounds.

War Eagle is an annual event for many from our southwestern area, and once you go to it you will understand why. The exhibits are marvelous, and the crowds fantastic.

Calls ABC Raids Political

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Guy H. "Mitt" Jones of Conway said Tuesday that a raid by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board here Sept. 28 was "politically inspired," rather than an attempt to enforce the law.

Jones said he had obtained a subpoena for ABC Director Alvin Bell to have him appear at the Municipal Court hearing scheduled Oct. 30 for Charles Rehl, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club here, who is charged with over possession of intoxicants, possessing intoxicants for sale and selling intoxicants in a dry county.

Paul E. Terrell of Little Rock, chief enforcement officer for the ABC, said 104 cases of beer and 32 bottles of assorted intoxicants were confiscated in the raid on the VFW Club.

Second Delay in Flight

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Bad weather early today forced a second postponement of Sheila Scott's attempt to break the transatlantic record for a solo flight.

Miss Scott had hoped to leave Shannon Airport in her twin-engine Piper Comanche, bound for Gander and Toronto. Airport officials said she would try again Thursday.

NEW YORK (AP) — "For Passive Recreation Only" read the recently posted signs in Carl Schurz Park next door to Gracie Mansion, the mayor's official residence.

A department of Parks spokesman said Tuesday the signs were put up to prevent exuberant children from turning the grassy park into a dust bowl.
